Event: The Chemistry Challenge is a quiz-style competition brought to you by the Long Island subsection of the American Chemical Society. The event features a fun, multiple choice test covering General and Organic Chemistry topics. Students will compete against each other this year with the top 3 students in each category (2 and 4 year institutions) being awarded for their efforts. Participants will be permitted to use basic scientific calculators, scrap paper, and a periodic table that will be provided in advance. Other aides or outside help is not permitted. Winners will be announced at the conclusion of the event!

All Are Welcome
